Yoemen Open 1955 Gridiron Season Against Waco Trojans

The first game of the season is just over the hill and three Cameron Yoemen are incapacitated, according to Coach Leo Jackson. Clifford Angell resumed practice Monday afternoon for the first time since last Wednesday; John Duncan, the first string fullback, is out with a sprained ankle and Bobby Willaims, quarterback was out Monday with a touch of flu.

Coach Jackson said that if things work out as they did in the scrimmage against Brenham Friday evening, he feels sure the Yoe squad will come out on top of the heap this Friday in the Municipal Stadium over the Waco University High boys.

He reported that in the one and one half hour scrimmage session the home team showed strength in both offensive and defensive play, with each team scoring two or three times during the evening's play. He pointed out that although there was no particularly outstanding plays by any one boy on the team, the team work as a whole was exceptionally good, giving the boys every hope of winning their game from University High again this year.

Last year the Yoemen won 6 to nothing in their game with Waco, with the Waco school moved up into AAA classification this year.

The game this Friday, with kick-off time at 8 p.m., should be some indication of the Yoemen's strength Coach Jackson said.

All Cameronites were urged to turn out for the game and give the local team their support during the evening.

400 Children Still Have Not Received Second Polio Shot

Dr. John A. Bryson, head of the County Health Unit, reported today that there were still approximately 400 children who have not received their second Salk Polio Vaccine Shots.

He urged the parents of the children who have not received the shots to bring them to the clinic in Cameron on Wednesday or to the clinic in Rockdale any first or third Tuesday so that they can be given the second shot in the series. He again stressed the fact that although the first shot gives a degree of immunity, the full measure of protection is not assured until the second shot is given.

Dr. Bryson emphasized that all children whose parents are unable to pay for needed pre-school shots, diptheria and small-pox, could bring them to the local clinic for injections.

Bloodmobile Unit Scheduled Here Friday, September 9, 8:30 to 2:30

A special effort onthe part of each Cameronite will be needed to make this coming Friday, Sept. 9, a successful Bloodmobile day.

This, a special visit, has been requested by the Blood Center since the county supply of blood, so vitally necessary to the ill, has been almost depleted.

It is hoped that this visit, which will be held in the Horstmann Building located across from the Post Office from 8:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. will result in at least 70 pints of blood which is urgently needed.

Richard Mosely, chairman of the local drive, stated that the blood is direly needed at this particular time due to an anticipated demand over the Labor Day weekend.

He explained that the special visit is being made to Cameron since their previous engagement here, earlier this year, was concelled out.

There will be some 20 volunteer workers on hand at the mobile unit to assist donors, including doctors, registered nurses and clerical assistants.

Following the donation each contributor will be treated to a light snack.

Acting as recruitment agent for the drive will be Rev. John Solomon who will contact all the civic clubs and businesses in the city in an effort to make this the most successful drive ever held in Cameron. Both white and colored contributors were urged to be present during the set hours.

Farmers Cautioned On Child Labor During School Hours

Farm youngsters under 16 years of age are expected to be in school when the fall term opens in this community in September.

Regional Director William J. Rogers of the Department of Labor's Wage-Hour Division in Dallas says the child labor provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act generally prohibit the employment of children under 16 years of age in Agriculture, during hours when the local school is in session.

So children under 16 cannot legally be employed for farm work, such as cotton picking, etc., during local school hours if the farm products concerned go into interstate or foreign commerce.

Farmers are responsible under the Federal law if they hire under age children to do farm work during school hours. And the law applies equally to local resident children and to migratory children.

He said "school hours" means those hours when school acturally is in session for the school district where the child under 16 is currently living.

The law, he said, sets no minimum age for employing minors on farms before or after school hours, or during school holidays or vacations.

946 Students Enroll In Local Schools

Gleeful children, exuberant at achieving one of their main aims, attending school, and dubious parents, wondering if their chicks would survive the first day of school without them, formed the pattern for a successful beginning to the first grade classes in the Ben Milam Elementary school Thursday.

Wiley Loughmiller, principal of the elementary schools, reported that the total enrollment in this building, which houses four classes of each of the first, second, and third grades, was 235 at the conclusion of the day. Out of this number 63 were first graders, a few less than last year.

Loughiller explained that the number would probably increase in both the Ben Milam and Ada Henderson schools in the near future, when many of the children quit working in the cotton fields or returned from trips out of town.

Total enrollment in the Ada Henderson school, which is composed of the fifth through the eighth grades, was 357 Thursday afternoon.

According to school officials the registration of students in the Yoe High School number 354 at the conclusion of the day.

Total enrollment in the three schools was 946, about the same as last year.

Teachers reminded students that classes will begin each morning at 8 a.m. with the tardy bell ringing at 8:30 a.m.

Out of all the beginning students only seven of the first graders were found to be ineligible due to the lack of proper certificates. Loughmiller urged that the parents of these children contact him with the necessary documents, which consist of a birth certificate and certification of vaccination for small pox from their doctor.

School will begin at the St. Anthony Catholic School on Tuesday, September 6, with a meeting of the parents at 8:30 a.m. followed by registration and classes.

O. J. Thomas students have been advised to attend their school for registration purposes only Tuesday, September 6, with regular classes due to start Wednesday, September 7. C. L. Sadberry, principal of the school, urged all children to register on the 6th, even though they may not have to be absent to work in the field or for other reasons.

$35,000 Fire Damage Sat. At Matyastik's Clarkson Gin

There was approximately $35,000 damage done when the Clarkson Gin, owned by John Matyastik burned to the ground Saturday afternnon according to officials.

Mrs. Matyastik said she was the first to notice th fire. After hearing a small explosion, like that of a tire blowing out, she looked toward the engine room from the office of the building which was located in the short end of the L-shaped building and saw smoke boiling out of the windows and doors. She quickly ran to tell her husband and the gin employees who were still ginning on their last one-quarter bale cotton on the yard with the building almost completely in flames.

Mrs. Matyastik stated that it has not been determined yet whether the fire was caused by an explosion of the big engine or the butane burner.

Plans are being made to rebuild just as soon as the insurance company makes their settlement.

It was reported by gin officials that up until the time of the fire some 816 bales had been ginned, which put them about half way through the season.

The Cameron Volunteer Fire Department, which was called to the fire, managed to save the seed house and several small buildings located near the gin even though the gin itself was too far gone to save when they arrived.

Milam Cotton Crop About Half In; 15,000 to 20,000 Bales Expected

A white tidal wave of cotton surged in on Milam County cotton gins the latter part of last week and the first part of this week, with approximately 3,500 bales ginned in five days. The total ginned thus far is 8,026 according to reports from all the gins in the county.

P. W. Davis, manager of the Cameron Compress reported that thus far 7,000 bales have been brought in for storage.

Most of the gin officials throughout the county report that weekend showers did no damage at all and grades have improved somewhat since the rains a week ago. Most of them add, however, that farmers are still allowing workers to start picking too early, leaving too much moisture in the cotton to get top grades per load.

Although it was thought earlier that the rains might have been sufficient to make a second crop on some of the cotton farms in this area, ginners this week stated there was little hope of a repeat crop since the cotton was too badly eaten by insects.

Ginners declared that ginning reached its peak during the last part of last week and looks to hold out during this week, if scattered showers do not "foul up the deal." Most of the gins have been operating day and night to keep up with the flow of cotton, with the largest percentage of them not able to shut their doors until one or two in the morning.

It is thought that most of the cotton will be in within the next three weeks, with the second picking occuring whenever farmers can get hands. Ginners stated that if help was hired to do the second picking at this time it would cost the farmer more than he can get for the cotton.

Reports from the local gins show that Matyastick Gin has processed 747 bales, the Planters 573 bales, the Weems 477 bales and the Farmers 900 bales.

Colored Group Meets Wednesday With Citizens Advisory Committee

A representative group of colored people from this area met for their fist Citizens Advisory Committee meeting Wednesday evening.

Several members of the local school board met with the group during the first part of the session, with Dr. Clifford Swift, president of the board, outlining the problems and questions that confront Cameron school officials.

It was brought out that the white Advisory Committee had delved into the main problem, desegregation, which would cause a building shortage on the present school campus and had arrived at the conclusion that the most feasible solution would be to build a completely new school plant on the present O. J. Thomas grounds.

The colored representatives were asked to think about the situation and, after deliberation and discussions with parents in their various neighborhoods, present their conclusions to the school board for its consideration.

Following Dr. Swift's talk, the members present elected Willie Anderson, a teacher in the O. J. Thomas School, as chairman of and make some preliminary the committee.

During this meeting, purely organizational, it was decided that the members will meet for the second time next Thursday, Sept. 8, to discuss the matters at hand conclusions.

Following their next meeting the two groups, the white and colored advisory committees, will meet under the direction of Hilliard Thomas, general chairman, to combine their ideas and present them to the school board.

In 1954, during the month of August alone, 105 arrests were made for drunkenness, with 107 arrested this year.

Clubs Propose Community Center

"Strike while the iron is hot" is the opinion of most of the members of the civic organizations in Cameron who are making tenative plans to pit their strength in an effort to erect a Community Center here.

All of the clubs have been contacted by the Lions Club, which instigated the idea, to get a poll of the opinions of the groups as a whole.

An official in the Kiwanis Club reported that at a recent meeting 75 percent of the members of that organization committed themselves to subscribe $25 each for a five year bond to aid in the primary costs of construction.

It was later reported that 75 percent of the Lions Club also voted to purchase the $25 bonds. The Rotary Club, however, delayed action until their next meeting this coming Wednesday noon.

Authorities, after conferring with the ways and means committee, explained that the whole project is still merely in the tenative planning stages, with a definite location not yet decided upon.

If the project is pursued, the officials reported, the center will be about a $10,000 to $15,000 structure for the use of everyone in the community.

For several years there has been interest along the line of erecting a community center in this area. The need for such an accomodation has been great. The scouts for instance, have no regular designated place to meet for their meetings as well as other organizations.

A centrally located structure has been advocated by the various civic clubs of the city. With an estimate of the cost of such a building, clubs can make further plans on the project. Several clubs that will begin their fall meetings in the near future will be contacted about the matter. Members of the clubs feel that such a proposed center will be of great value to Cameron. It was revealed by several club members that such a project was talked about several years ago

Turkey producers will soon be engaged in a most important part of their year's program, that of marketing. In order to command the top market price, a bird of Grade A quality which can meet the competition from any producing area in the nation for consumer prefenence must be a major objective of the industry, says County Agent, J. D. Moore.

Schools Need Good Health Program; Sanitation Stressed

Every school should have a definite school health program. Situations such as, the kind of drinking water, arrangements for the school lunch, the lighting, seating, ventilation and cleanliness of the school room, and the personal practices of the teachers and children are the bases of the school health program, said Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of health.

Every school has tremendous opportunities to promote the health of its pupils and of its community. From early childhood to early manhood and womanhood, most children are enrolled in schools and are under the supervision of school staffs for a substantial part of the day for approximately part of the day for approximately conditions under which they live in school, the help which they are given in solving their health problems, the ideals of individual and community health which they are taught and the information and understanding that they acquire of themselves are factors which operate to develop attitudes and behavior conducive to healthy, happy and successful living.

Schools alone however cannot enable children to attain all the desirable goals of individual and community health. Considering the magnitude and multitude of the diverse and continuing efforts that must be made to satisfy the health needs of children, it is fortunate that many people and groups, in addition to schools, are greatly interested in promoting health. Parents have a prime responsibility.

Physicians, dentists, nurses, health officers, social and welfare workers and their official organizations, such as medical, dental, and nursing societies, health departments and voluntary health agencies are all rightly concerned with health activities in their communities.

Local Firm Installs Mixing Equipment For Farmers

Walter Lester announced today that the newly completed Lester Feed Company, complete with custom grinding and mixing equipment and a molasses machine, is now open for business.

He stated that the mill, installed at the rear of the Cameron Seed Company in Sante Fe for the convenience of farmers in the area, will handle 10,000 pounds of grain per hour. The grain, of any type including ear corn, goes directly out of the hammer-mill into the molasses machine, with a complete line of extra ingredients, including cotton seedmeal, bran, shorts and meat scraps on hand at the mill. Lester said that with the large grain crop in the county this year farmers can bring in a supply of grain to the mill and have it worked into a complete ration for livestock at a minimum cost.

Farmers wishing to do so can supply their own sacks, Lester added, or they can be bought at the mill.

He invited all farmers or interested spectators to come by and inspect the mill which is equipped with all the newest type equipment.

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Mr. Bill Love, who lives in the Ad Hall community, finds that hubam has outstanding value in his pasture improvement program. He overseeded hubam in his fields where Bermuda grass stands were thin and plant vigor low. Where the clover was seeded and came up to a good stand, the Bermuda grass spread to a solid cover and the grass looked green and vigorous even during the dry summer. Mr. Love gives credit for this improvement to the hubam clover.

He says the clover roots penetrate the plow pan and open up the sub-soil, allowing better movement of water and air. This allows the soil to take up and store more water for later use. He is differing his grazing this year to allow all of his clover and grass to reseed. He plans to drill clover in all fields and areas where a stand was not established in previous years.

Hubam clover has probably been used as much as any legume in the blacklands of this area. Its capacity to furnish good cover, condition the sub-soil and serve as an over all soil improving crop, is well understood by most farmers of this area. For this reason, nearly every farmer in the blacklands will plant some of his crop land to Hubam clover this fall.

Farm Social Security News

In my last article I described conditions under which a family arrangement for the operation of a farm could be an actual partnership or joint venture, where husband and wife, or father and child, could both be considered self-employed farmers for social security purposes.

There are other family farm enterprises that are also agricultural self-employment. I shall describe two of these widely prevalent in farm areas throughout the country.

From time to time, farm wives, and other members of farm households, have engaged in farm enterprises on the side. "Egg Money" is a term sometimes used to describe the income from such a business because raising chickens and selling eggs is often the source of this special income.

If a special activity like that is really part of the general farm enterprise, and feeding, housing, and tending the chickens or other farm animals are merely part of the overall work of operating the farm, there's no separate business or enterprise. In such case, the member of the family who engages in such work is not self-employed but is merely helping out the actual farm operator.

On the other hand, if the farm wife, or other member of the farm family, conducts a separate business wholly on her own, pays the expenses involved, and keeps all the income separate from that derived from the other farm operations, she is self-employed in her own right for social security purposes. However, merely doing the chores, helping with the harvesting, etc. doesn't make the wife or other member of the family either the farmer's employee or a self-employed person.

By the same token, a farmer's son who engages in some special farm work on a farm otherwise managed and controlled by his parent, this work being his own individual enterprise, is a self-employed farmer. This does not mean that a son whose father gives him a calf or other livestock to tend and raise is necessarily engaged in a special farming enterprise. However, if the son undertakes a 4H or FFA project entirely on his own, keeps separate records, pays the expenses and keeps the profits, he is a self-employed farmer. The fact that his father may give him all kinds of free advice would not change the situation so long as the son has the right to make his own decisions and act on them.

IF the son has net earnings of $400 or more in a year from activity he runs, such earnings will count toward his social security. Under the law, he must file an income tax return and pay the self-employment tax regardless of how young he is and even if his earnings are so low that he doesn't have to pay any incoe tax

Some may ask what use social security is to a youngster. I t has two early values. First, as soon as a young farmer has worked for two "crop years" under social security, he is insured, which means that in case of his untimely death, a modest lump sum pay ment would be made toward burial expenses. More importantly, as soon as the young man has a family, his wife and baby would have substantial insurance protection, which would pay monthly cash benefits to the young mother and child if the head of the family were to die.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe A. Dusek had as weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Dusek, Barry and Susan of San Antonio. Mrs. Dusek and children have just returned from England where they visited her parents and other relatives and friends.

Report Shows Hike In Lone Star Beer Sales 1941 – 54

One of Texas' greatest success stories reached a new milestone today with the release of a Research Company of America report showing that sales of Lone Star 1941 through 1954.

Figures previously released had shown that Lone Star's sales in 1954 had increased 15.5 percent over 1953. Harry Jersig, president of the Lone Star Brewing Company, announced earlier this year that the brewery was beginning its eighth expansion in 14 years. Now that this expansion is completed, Lone Star will have capacity of 900,000 barrels of beer.

President Jersig, in a recent letter to stockholders, reported that Lone Star broke its own record June by selling more than 70,000 barrels.

The research report which showed Lone Star's 2,084 percent increase from 1941 through 1954 listed the 15 brands of beer showing the highest increases. The number two beer listed in the report showed an increase of 659 percent over the 14-year period.

Mr. Jersig, in his letter to the stockholders, called attention to the research company report. "When you note our position among the leading breweries in the country," he wrote, "I'm certain that you will feel proud to be in the Lone Star family....Truly, we are Goin' Great in the Lone Star State."

The report showed the Lone Star sales rose at an astonishing rate during the 14-year period. From annual sales of 32,000 barrels in 1941, Lone Star rose to 89,000 in 1945. It jumped to 166,000 in 1947 and reached 501,000 in 1952. Last year, Lone Star sold 667,000 barrels.

A. E. Fein, managing director of the Research Company in America, with offices in New York City, commented on the results of the report. "This analysis was relatively easy for us to develop, as the basic data were available through the fourteen annual editions of the BREWING INDUSTRY SURVEY, which we regularly publish.

"From our analysis," he continued, "It is apparent that the Lone Star Brewing Company of San Antonio, Texas, enjoys the highest percentage of sales increase (2,084 percent) during the last fourteen years for any brewer in the United States. This increase is particularly phenomenal since Lone Star did not acquire other companies or plants during this period."

OUR APPRECIATION . . . .

We want to take this method of expressing our deep appreciation to every one who helped us in any way when our gin burned. We know there are those of you who were here to help that we can not see personally to express our thanks, but believe us when we say, "Thanks from the bottom of our hearts".

We are so deeply grateful to the Cameron Volunteer Fire Department and to the Rosebud Fire Department for coming to our aid and preventing more damage than what we actually suffered. To the Rosebud Telephone operators, Jim Hauk, Herbert Reddhase and Sheriff Carl Black, we are also thankful.

Without the help of all of those who helped, we know the damage would have been a lot heavier. Of course the cotton season had just begun to really get under way and we regret we will be unable to serve our friends and customers the rest of the season. However, we plan to begin construction of our new gin as guickly as possible, and will be expecting to see all of you next year.

Our very best wishes for each of you and our everlasting thanks for your help and friendship.

San Gabriel Farm Lady Firm Believer In Terracing Land

Two and eight-tenths miles of large channel type terraces have recently been constructed on the farm of Mrs. Albert Hoskins, cooperator with the Little River - San Gabriel Soil Conservation District. These terraces which were laid out by the Soil Conservation Service personnel of Bartlett, will aid in protecting approximately 60 acres of rolling crop land aganist sheet and gully erosion. By carrying excess runoff waters to a grassed disposal which was previously prepared for this purpose, Mrs. Hoskins plans to aid the terrace system in functioning by conducting all future tillage operations on the contour with the terraces and planting approximately one-third of the crop land acreage to soil improving legume crops each year. Additional terraces will be constructed on the Hoskins farm, located ½ mile south of Weir as soon as additional grassed waterway can be established.

A 4,000 cubic yard farm pond dam has recently been constructed on the farm of district cooperator Mrs. Eda Dooley Moore, located 1 mile west of Davilla. The pond dam, which was constructed with a bulldozer employed by Mrs. Moore, will empound approximately 15 acre feet of livestock water at a depth of 17 feet. This will provide a permanent source of water for the livestock profram on the Moore farm. The pond dam location is such that it will result in a more even distribution of livestock grazing. This will aid in pasture improvement program being applied on the Moore farm.

Careful Driving Urged As Children Back To School

Greater driving care than ever before will be needed this fall when children start back to school says Carol Lane, noted travel authority and women's travel director of Shell Oil Company.

With an enrollment increase of one and a half million over last year, 32 million children will be going to grammar and high schools in the 1955-56 school year in the United States A great many of them will be riding bicycles to and from school - the Bicycle Institute of America estimates 24 million children ride bicycles.

These children will be sharing the road with 58 million motor vehicles -nearly two million more than last year.

"It is shocking to realize," says Miss Lane, "that the biggest single killer of children aged 1 to 14 in the country is motor vehicle accidents." With more children going back to school this fall than ever before, and more bicycles and cars on the road, the greatest safety precautions must be taken while driving. This is especially true in school zones, near playgrounds and in residential areas.

Bicycle riders are supposed to observe the same rules as those that prevail for motorists. "But," says Miss Lane, "remember that children are children. It is up to the adult dirver to assume the responsibility. Regard every child on a bicycle as a danger signal to slow down, drive with even more care."

Parents must do their part,too, by teaching children the elements of safe bicycle riding, and making sure that the bicycles are kept in perfect working condition.

CARE OF STEAM IRONS
(Alice G. Hughes, Home Demonstration Agent)

For best performance from your steam iron, use foft water, and keep the iron clean and dry when not in use, suggests Alice G. Hughes, Home Demonstration Agent. To dry it out quickly and well, plug the iron back into the outlet for a few minutes.

Soft water, either rain or distilled water, is recommedned for filling the iron. Hard water tends to form a lime deposit that gradually cakes the sides of the cavity and may close the steam vents. If hard water must be used, fill the reservoir occasionally with distilled venegar. Steam for 15 minutes and allow to stand overnight. In the morning, rinse the cavity thoroughly with water.

Get the most from all your household equipment with proper care and repair. A copy of Extension Bulletin, "Household Equipment - Its Care and Simple Repair," is available at your local county Extension Office.

Program Announced By ASC Office

Alva E. Sanders, Milam County ASC Office Manager announced Wednesday that the 1955 Winter Legume Program will be opened to farmers Wednesday, Sept. 7. At that time farmers may start making their request for seed and fertilizer.

Due to the early season, it is expected that many farmers will be seeding their legumes and applying fertilizer earlier this year than in the past few years.

The program, though similiar in most respect to past programs, is different in other ways. The government will share cost with the farmer to approximately 50 percent of the cost of seed and fertilizer. The growth may be grazed, but the growth cannot be harvested for seed or hay.

A nurse crop of small grains may be seeded with the legume crop but no cost share will be allowed for the nurse crop.

The legume must be seeded not later than Dec. 1, 1955 and must be left on the land until April 1, 1956, unless the county committee determines that an optimum growth has been obtained at an earlier date.

Eligible seeds to be used under the program are, Winter Peas, Indica Clovers, Hairy, Common and Willamette Vetch, 200 pounds or the equivalent of 20 percent Superphosphate must be used unless a soil test indicates that fertilizer is not needed.

Farmers are urged to make their plans for the Legume Program early so that a maximum growth can be obtained early enough to protect the soil from Winter erosion.

Council Discusses Right-of-way Issue In Speacial Session

City Councilmen met for a special session Thursday afternoon to discuss the right-of-way for the portion of Highway 36 in the city limits slated to be widened and renovated.

At the last regular Council meeting each of the aldermen took one of the five property owners along the stretch of highway to contact again to try to make a reasonable settlement.

Mayor O. B. Horstman stated that all of the people had been contacted, with only one party coming down to a figure which seemed reasonable for settlement.

He explained that further efforts would be made to reach a settlement with the parties before condemnation proceedings are started, since, after the matter is taken into court it is out of the council's hands and the property owners must then abide by the court's decision.

After the next regular meeting, he said, if no agreement can be made the matter will be turned over to an Appraisal Committee for their recommendations.

Another tiem on the special agenda was the problem of Cameron alley - ways now being higher than the buildings they are adjacent to, which allows water to drain into the buildings following a heavy rain. It was assumed that repairs and fill-ins to the alleys were responsible for the added heightl It was decided that arrangements will be made to lower the alleys to a degree necessary for proper drainage.

It was also brought out that contractors hired to complete the paving project in front of and beside the Ben Milam Elementary School are due to arrive and begin work Saturday, with a completion date set for Sept. 1.

Engagement Announced

Dr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Kruse announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Erin to Mr. James Robert Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cade Jackson of Anahuac, Texas.

Ernest C. Cole Appointed Agent At Austin

Ernest C. Cole, Southern Pacific agent here since 1929, has been appointed agent at Austin, effective Sept. 1. Announcement of his successor will be made in the near future, spokesmen for the railroad said.

Widely known for his active interest in the business and civic affairs of Central Texas, Cole began his railroad career as a clerk for Southern Pacific at Hallettsville in 1916.

After military service during World War I, he returned to the railroad as a telegraph operator at Yoakum and other nearby stations. He was the first Southern Pacific agent at Minerva, opening the station there when oil was discovered in 1921.

The veteran railroader was appointed assistant agent at Waco in 1928, transferring to Cameron as agent in 1929. He has had more than 39 years of Southern Pacific service.

Cole served as president of the Cameron Chamber of Commerce, has been active on its most important committees, is a leading member of the Lions' Club and has been closely identified with local educational activities for many years.

Cotton Prices About Same Up Till Present Time

Local Cotton Buyers C. E. Triggs and J. E. Flinn reported today that cotton prices have remained about the same up till the present time. Government price support on middling 15-16 cotton is 33.41 and 31.91 on strict low 15-16.

Buyers added, however, that due to rain which reduced the grades on some cotton, they had been able to "buy a little ... very little" low middling and strict low bales.

Triggs stated they were paying from 26 to 29 for the lower grades, which is more than the 28.80 offered on the support plan.

Induction Percentage Hiked During July Over Last Year

For the first time in about a year, more Texans are entering the armed forces than are getting out.

This is apparent from reports to national Selective Service headquarters from the state draft headquarters in Austin.

In July, 4,272 Texans entered the armed forces, 3,970 being separated at the same time.

"It is the first time since August 1954 more Texans have gotten in the various uniformed services than have gotten out," Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director said.

"Each month from September 1954 through June 1955, the number being separated exceeded the number being taken in," he added.

Of the 4,272 Texans going into the armed forces in July 556 were drafted, the others going in by enlistment or other voluntary means.

The state's 157 draft boards sent 1,453 men for physical - mental examinations by the army in July. Of this number, 814 were declared acceptable by the army.

During July, the local draft boards registered 4,918 males, most of whom were youths reaching their 18th birthday. The federal draft law requires all males to register when they are 18 or five days thereafter.

Bob Nelson Attends Dallas Football Officials Meeting

Robert Nelson, County attorney, returned recently from a Southwestern Football Officials Association meeting in Dallas at the Baker Hotel.

Nelson, a certified official, reported that few major changes in the rules and signals were made during the two day conference, which had well known coaches and officials as speakers.

The main changes pointed out by Nelson included the change in substitution rules for college games. In the past a player could be sent in only once during a quarter. The new rule allows them to be sent into play twice during a quarter if they were in the starting play.

Another change was that any player, to be eligible for a forward pass, has to be on the end of the line and not outflanked by anyone else on his team.

He added that players now have to be within 15 yards of the ball at the "start of play" signal.

Killeen Building For August Set at $2.7 Million

Killeen building permits for August totalled $178,231.75, bringing the total for the year to $2,790,895, according to C. C. Curry, building inspector.

Commerical construction continued to set the pace with four new buildings on Eighth Street accounted for over $100,000 of the month's total.

A year ago, permits for the month totalled $870,757 with the total for the year through Aug. 31, 1954, $3,921,319.

5 Southwest Games Scheduled To Be Shown Via Telecast

Texans will have the most comprehensive radio and TV football coverage in history brought to them this season by Humble Oil and Refining Company, sponsors of Southwest Conference football broadcasts for the last 21 years.

Included in the coverage will be five live telecasts of Southwest Conference games, statewide broadcasts of 54 Southwest Conference games, and West Texas network broadcasts of the complete Texas Tech and Texas Western schedules.

In addition, Humble's popular TV program, Texas in Review, will feature highlights from each week's Southwest Conference games. Kern Tips, who heads Humble's staff of announcers, will narrate these highlights on 18 Texas TV stations the Monday or Tuesday following the games. The first of these Texas in Review footabll features will be shown Monday, Sept. 19, with the most interesting plays from the Texas-Texas Tech, TCU - Kansas, and Baylor - Hardin-Simmons games to be shown.

The five games to be telecast were selected by the Southwest Conference under the television policy of th NCAA. These games will be telecast over as many as 19 TV stations on a weekend, but this number will vary, under conference rules, telecasts are blacked out in areas where they might hurt attendance, unless the games are sold out.

Games to be telecast are TCU-Texas Tech at Lubbock, Sept. 24; Texas - Oklahoma at Dallas, Oct. 8; Texas A & M - Baylor at College Station, Oct. 22; Rice - Arkansas at Houston, Nov. 12. All telecasts will begin at 1:45 p.m. Kern Tips will do the play by play announcing.

Last week, The Humble Company sponsored a school in Dallas for its football announcers. Instructors were members of SMU's coaching staff headed by Woody Woodward and Kern Tips.

Motorists Warned To Observe Traffic In School Areas

September means back to school for millions of American youngsters. Many will be in school for the first time and problems of the safety.

The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Committee says the 4,100 children under 15 killed last year in the nation in motor vehicle accidents is a challenge to every citizen. Life for the generation growing up can be made a safe one if adults and youth alike assume their responsibilities, believes the committeemen.

Safety training in the home is o the utmost importance for youtl is a great imitator. It learns mucl from example or habits of its elders. The Safety Committee believes the youngster who has been taught safety and good house-keeping will be able to transfer this knowledge to bicycles and cars.

Adult drivers are warned to expect the unexpected where children are concerned. Safety is often forgotten in the rush to retrieve a ball. Drive slowly in areas where children play or congregate; be alert to all signs, signals, traffic officers and school patrols and especially of the youngsters themselves. One slip, says the committee, might mean the los of a life ... and your peace of mind.

Bluejacket wheat has been added to the previously announced list of 28 wheat varieties classified as undesirable becasue of inferior milling or baking qualities by the USDA. The 24 varieties designated will draw a 20 cent per bushel discount in 1956 wheat support rates.

Early Cotton Stalk Destruction Reduces Bollworms, Weevils

Early harvest and immediate stalk destruction with a shredder type stalk cutter, if it can be done before frost, will help to reduce the populations of boll weevils and pink bollworms. The value of early destruction of cotton stalks has been demonstrated in many communities and counties of Texas during recent years. Early stalk destruction which destroys the food supply and stops continuous breeding of pink bollworms and boll weevils is the best and most economical means of reducing damage from these insects during the next crop season.

Late summer or early fall rains will cause new growth and fruiting of cotton plants and will alllow large numbers of these insects to build up and enter hibernation. Cotton should not be allowed to breed late generations of boll weevils or pink bollowrms after the crop is harvested. A top crop cannot usually be produced economically because of infestations of these insects.

The destruction of stalks even a few days before frost is worthwhile, but if this can be accomplished 30 days or more before frost, the results from the standpoint of insect control can be expected to be much better. Stalk shredders will kill large numbers of pink bollworms and boll weevils mechanically and will expose many of those remaining to weather and other hazards through the even spreading of debris over the ground. Athough early stalk destruction is profitable on individual fields or farms, it is of much greater value when practiced on a community-wide, county-wide or area-wide basis.

Congress Passes Law Where Veterans May Renew Life Insurance

Dr. George T. McMahan, Manager of the Veterans Administration Center, Waco, Texas, states that a law approved by the 84th Congress on July 29, 1955, offers an opportunity to some veterans to renew their National Service Life Insurance or United States Government Life Insurance.

If the insurance expired after April 25, 1951, while the veteran was serving on active duty or within 120 days after his release from active duty, the veteran now has an opportunity to replace it. Application by the veteran must be made for replacement within 120 days from date of release from active duty or by November 26, 1955, whichever date is later. Remittance for premium and evidence of good health must accompany the application.

Veterans affected by this new legislation may go to the nearest Veterans Administration Office where they will receive assistance in replacing this insurance.

Farm Social Security News Announced

A farm owner who arranges with someone to produce a crop or livestock on his land for a per- centage share of the total crops produced does not get social se- curity credit for that income. As curity credit for that income. As I mentioned in my preceding art- icle, his share of the crop is con- sidered rental income and is ex cluded.

A farm business partnership however, is another matter. If you have a farm and enter into a busi- ness partnership or a joint ven- ture with someone to operate it jointly, both of you are self-em- ployed, just as partners in a non- farm enterprise operated for profit. In these cases each partner makes a report of his share of net earn- ings separately as a self-employ- ed person, for social security pur- poses, and pays the selfemploy- ment tax on that share.

The general features of any part nership are that each of the part- ners contributes in some way as agreed upon to the operation of the business. If there are losses, each will bear a share. Profits are also shared. Moreover, the partners are individually and joint ly responsible for the debts of the partnership. A partnership is in- dicated if the parties hold them- selves out as partners by using a partnership name in their deal- ings with others, have a joint bank account, etc. Generally, each member of a farm partnership would take part in making deci- sions regarding the management and control of the farm opera- tions. They let everyone know they are operating the farm to gether. They take part in the daily work connected with the operation of the farm and super- vise the daily work of the farm hands.

It is possible, too, for a husband and wife to operate a farm as business partners, in which event, both would be self-employed for social security purposes. In the usual family farm arrangement, however, one party - usually the husband has the actual manage- ment and control of the farm. In these cases, he, not his wife, is the selfemployed farmer, an the net earnings from the farm operation should be reported in his name alone for social security purposes.

Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Kolter, Jr. spent the Labor Day weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H B. McClellen.

"Johnson-Rayburn" Day To Be Observed At State Fair

A "Johnson-Rayburn Day" will be observed at the 1955 State Fair of Texas in recognition of the fact that both the majority leader in the U. S. Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives are from Texas - the first time in recent U. S. history that the two top congressional posts have been held by men from the same state at the same time.

Thursday, Oct. 13 has been designated in honor of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Johnson City and Rep. Sam Rayburn of Bonham, and the important offices they hold in Congress.

"It is a great distinction for the state of Texas to have Texans serving in both these top congressional positions," Fair President R. L. Thornton said.

"In having a Johnson-Rayburn Day at the State Fair, we are honoring the offices they hold as well as the men, and in so doing are calling attention to the importance of Texas on the national scene," Thornton said.

The Fair's program for the day will be entirely non-political, Mr. Thornton said.
